

Church Affairs

Mrs. J. R. Watson entertained the members of her Sunday school class at St. Clement's church Friday evening at Kendrick hall.

The evening was spent in the enjoyment of various games, dancing and music. Mrs. Watson was assisted in entertaining by Miss Fannie Woods and Rev. Henry Easter. Refreshments were served.

Those present were Misses Dorothy Long, Mary Robertson, Fanny Woods, Messrs. Eldon Rutledge, Earl Corcoran, James Lewis, Kenneth Freeman, David Hughes, Reed, William Race, Rev. Henry Easter and Mrs. J. B. Watson.

Mrs. J. P. Robertson entertained the Woman's Home Mission society of Trinity Methodist church Friday afternoon at her home, 313 West Boulevard. The living room and parlor were decorated for the occasion with yellow chrysanthemums and ferns. A Thanksgiving program was rendered by the members of the society, and the rest of the time was spent in a Thanksgiving contest. Miss Margaret Henderson was the winner of the first prize, which was a hand painted plate, and Mrs. J. H. Hirt won the second prize.

A two course luncheon was served. Those present were Messdames Chas. Patterson, Frank Powers, William Sachs, William Chas. Dawson, L. M. McCrummin, E. Brown, L. J. Ayers, Huggert, Dr. L. Singleton, W. J. Spahr, J. H. Hirt, Dr. L. Wilken, Neil Womack, H. Moore, Misses Margaret Henderson, Elsie Larkins, Adeline Clawson and Mrs. J. P. Robertson.

The Epworth league of the Trinity Methodist church was entertained Friday evening by Mrs. E. P. Robertson at her home, 313 West Boulevard.

Two contests were played during the evening. The first being a typical Thanksgiving time. Questions on the handling of the pilgrims were written on one side of a tally card and on the opposite side was a hand painted turkey. Miss Stella Lattner, guessing the largest number of questions, won the first prize—a box of candy, and Miss Ruth Forsyth the second, a tiny gray kitten, with a large bow of red ribbon tied around its neck.

Miss Elsie Larkins received the women's prize in the second contest—a league pennant, which was given by the Epworth league, and Hugh Henry was given the men's prize—a button hole league pennant.

In the dining room the same color scheme of yellow and white was effectively carried out. A two course luncheon was served. Those present were: Misses Ruth Forsyth, Vera Ballard, Elsie Wright, Mabel Murray, Ernestine Murray, Emma Hoffman, Juanita Smith, Margaret Henderson, Stella Lattner, Elsie Larkins, Adeline Clawson, Katherine Warren, Messrs. E. C. Mitchell, Hugh Henry, V. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Robertson.

About El Pasoans

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Suggs, a boy.

After a serious illness, Irene, the little daughter of Mrs. R. F. Campbell, is able to be up.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Phillips, December 2, a daughter.

A son was born November 25, Thanksgiving day, to Mr. and Mrs. Dan White, 508 Montana street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Elliott and family have moved from 711 Ance to 620 San Jose street, Highland Park.

Charles Bryan is out again, after a week's illness.

Mrs. R. L. Daniels is improving from an attack of bronchitis.

Miss Laura Henderson is sick at her home, 3219 Montana street.

Mrs. Empress Arington spent Saturday and Sunday at her ranch, near Las Cruces.

Store Open This Evening.

Announcement is made that from now until Christmas our store will remain open each evening until 9 o'clock. We do this to enable people to select Christmas gifts. This time is occupied during the day. Our salesforce is sufficiently large to work on alternate evenings. Our gift suggestions in catalogues form that appear from day to day will prove great aids to Christmas shoppers.

Silberberg Bros.

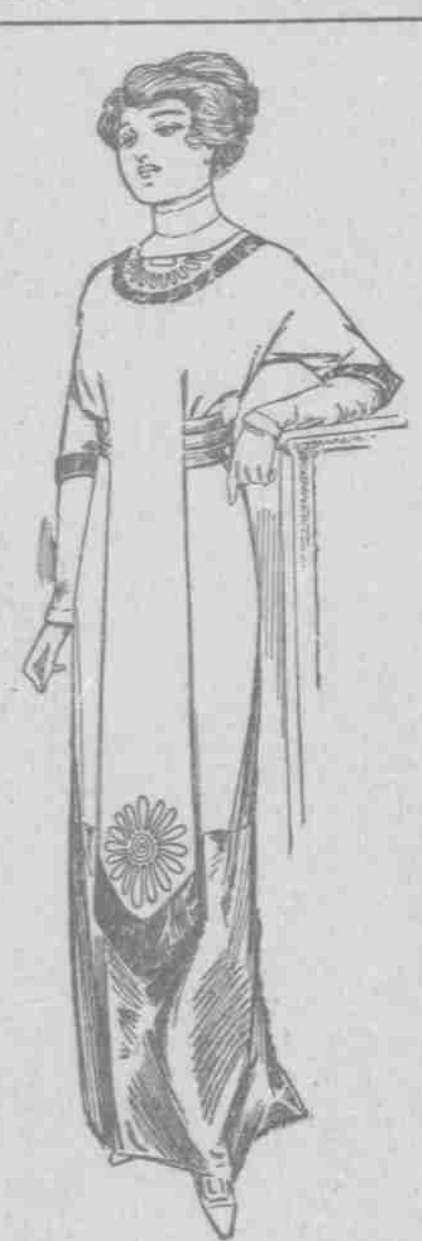

"The mere thought of buying a diamond should suggest Silberberg's."

Christmas Bazar.

Trinity church (Philanthropy class) will hold a Christmas bazar at 226 Mesa avenue Saturday December 9.

Fresh buttermilk, El Paso Dairy.

Dress With Braided Panel

The panel is seen on many of the newest dresses. In this dress a mole colored broadcloth is combined with satin, much darker in tone, the girdle and lower half of the skirt being of the satin. The trimming bands on the neck, panel and sleeves are of black panne velvet, and a simple design is braided with a black soutache. The chemise and sleeves are of plain silver net with hems at the edges.

Receptions

The Hiks' home was the scene of a very pretty reception Saturday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock, given by Messdames E. Christie and Julius W. Lorentzen. The door was attended by Master Joe Bennett. The guests were met in the lower hall by the Messes Marguerite and Dorothy Bennett, cousins of Mrs. Lorentzen, who were becomingly dressed, the former in white marquette over pink, the latter in white marquette over blue. Cards were taken at the door by little Misses Miriam Burt and Sarah Burt, dainty in their white lingerie dresses.

The rooms were attractive in their decorations of similar and white chrysanthemums and with a cheerful open fire in the large fireplace. The guests were greeted by Mrs. Lorentzen, who looked charming in her gown of pink crepe de chine over pink satin, beaded ornaments and large black picture in an arm bouquet of white carnations, and Mrs. Christie, who was gowned in white silk net, hand painted in pink roses, over white silk, large black picture and carried a bouquet of carnations and ferns.

During the afternoon Miss Amy Schults rendered a soprano solo and was later followed by a trio by Messdames H. F. Causebrook, G. H. Mengel, J. F. Packer.

Fruit punch was dispensed by the Messes Esther Darbyshire, Nora Bradley, Ceral Christie and Mrs. Leon Miller.

A salad course was served from a well appointed table, laid with cluny lace doilies, cut glass and silver, and candles with pink shades, a large bouquet of chrysanthemums. Coffee was poured by Mrs. Rodney W. McCandless, who was assisted in serving by Misses Meta Ormabide, Loretta Brick, Lucille Smith, Kate Adams, Ethel Brown, Mildred Connolly, Katherine Chas. and Messdames J. L. Dwyer and M. L. Burroughs. Over 200 women called during the afternoon.

Out Of Town Visitors

D. M. Prosser and wife, of Goldfield, Nev., were here Saturday en route to San Antonio to visit their son-in-law, who is manager of the Plaza theater. The trip of 200 miles was made in an auto and the run to El Paso was covered in four weeks.

Mrs. Fred Weckerle's mother, Mrs. Loessler, and sister, Miss Olive Loessler, have arrived from Hattsburg, Pa., to spend the winter with her.

Mrs. T. Stanberry, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Stoker, 1131 Arizona street, left last week for her home in Hereford, Tex.

Mrs. J. A. Pickett will have as her guest Mrs. George Warren Wells, of Evansville, Ind., Mrs. Wells will arrive Monday evening and remain as Mrs. Pickett's guest through the holidays.

El Pasoans Returning

Mrs. F. McGill has returned after a few weeks' visit to Tepic, Nari, and other cities in the east.

Mrs. Flora McAfee Jones and mother, Mrs. E. M. McAfee, who have been in the east for the last 18 months, have returned to El Paso, and are at the Regia.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells Brown are home from Mexico City, where they spent several weeks.

D. C. Jones, who has been spending three weeks in southern Arizona on a trip of combined business and pleasure, has returned to El Paso.

The Country Club

Sunday evening, at the Country club, a large crowd enjoyed the concert by the orchestra of the Twenty-Third Infantry band. Several dinner parties were given during the evening.

On Wednesday evening there will be an informal dance given at the Country club at 8:30 o'clock. The Fourth cavalry band will furnish the music and the evening is being looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure. During the evening the band will play "Dixie's Land" and "A favorite with the El Paso people."

On Friday evening the board of directors of the country club held a meeting and transacted some important business.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

Miss H. M. Haynes, of La Salle, Ill., who has been spending the past two months in California, is stopping for a short time in El Paso at the Y. W. C. A. home. Miss Ada L. Hoagland, a student at the A. & M. college, Mesilla Park, came to El Paso to meet her. Miss Haynes will accompany Miss Hoagland to Las Cruces for a few days, before continuing her homeward journey to La Salle.

School Notes

The Parent-Teachers' association of the Mesa school met at the school Friday afternoon. There was a large attendance.

Miss Ruth Evans presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. James R. Harper.

Mrs. B. F. Jenkins appealed to the mothers to assist the Civic league to have physical culture in the schools and to establish play grounds in El Paso.

The next meeting will be held January 5.

Dances

Mr. and Mrs. James G. McNary will entertain with the "Voltee" club Tuesday evening in honor of the former's sister, Mrs. Dudley Stuart Dean, of Boston, who is visiting them.

On Saturday evening Mrs. Richard H. Smith will entertain at her home, 1710 Montana street, with a dance for the younger set, complimentary to her niece and son, Miss Vaughn Compton and Elgie Smith.

Parties

A surprise party was given Mrs. J. Jackson at her home in East El Paso by a few of her friends. A very pleasant afternoon was spent in playing games.

When you have a bilious attack give Chamberlain's Tablets a trial. They are excellent. For sale by all druggists.

Cards

Mrs. R. B. Alven entertained very pleasantly Friday afternoon at her home 1011 California street, at six tables of bridge.

Large bouquets of chrysanthemums were placed throughout the room. Miss Myra Prater, Mrs. Winston Pettus and Mrs. H. F. Mueller were the winners. A luncheon was served at the conclusion of the games.

The guests were Misses Mary Gates, Myra Prater, Margaret Dixon, Florence Comfort, Messdames W. H. Lovell, C. E. Kelly, Frank Payne, H. F. Mueller, J. B. Watson, C. M. Lyman, W. S. Sworer, Zach Cobb, K. D. Frank, S. H. Hunt, Mrs. Alven, Mrs. Dixon, A. J. Janker, S. R. Comfort, Lamar Davis, F. S. Cary, W. A. White, Mamie L. Patterson, C. E. Kellogg, et al. Mrs. H. F. Mueller and Woodworth, D. B. Smith, E. E. Windsor, R. B. Alven.

Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Mengel entertained Friday evening at their home, 708 North Santa Fe street, with five tables of bridge.

The house was decorated throughout with white chrysanthemums, bowls and vases of them being placed in conspicuous places.

Mrs. Locke Tucker making highest woman's score was given an elaborate hand embroidered lace cloth, and H. Y. Ellis was presented with a brass cigar tray for having the highest man's score.

After the games a two course luncheon was served.

Those present were: Messrs. and Messdames Frank Turner, L. J. Gilbert, Charles Volckstein, H. Christie, Locke Tucker, H. Y. Ellis, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Hendricks, Henry Causebrook, S. J. Pennell, M. W. Greet, Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Mengel.

Bridge was the attraction at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Du Bose when they entertained a number of their friends Friday evening.

Yellow chrysanthemums and ferns were used in the decorations, seven tables being arranged for the card games.

Mrs. T. F. Kimbell wroth bag, and Mrs. James E. Bowen won the second, a brass basket. J. H. Grant won a smoking set, the men's first prize and prize.

W. W. Collie got second while Miss Marjorie Rankin and George Neely were awarded consolation prizes.

A salad course was served, following the games.

Those present were: Messrs. and Messdames H. Grant, E. Bowen, W. H. Lorentzen, George Neely, W. W. Collie, J. F. Eyster, Paul Liso, H. W. Broadbent, Van Gelson, P. J. Broadbent, K. E. Frank, Mary Rankin, C. E. Pollock, H. E. Runkle, T. F. Kimbell, Misses Marjorie Rankin and Neely.

Mrs. T. Lewis will entertain the Tuesday Bridge-Luncheon club on Tuesday at the Virginia flats.

Mrs. Max Moye is entertaining at cards this afternoon at her apartments in the Alexandria.

Miss Marie Cole will entertain on Saturday at 2:30 o'clock with a card party and shower in honor of Miss Louise Wiegand, who is soon to be married to Dr. George Woods, of San Marcos, Tex.

Weddings

A very quiet wedding took place Saturday morning at Trinity Methodist church, the contracting parties being Miss Emma Pelters and Miss Seymour, both of Berlin, N. M. Rev. H. P. Bond officiating.

There were lots of things she never would do. She would never grow bent, as most women of her age are. She would not grow very fat, nor would she have a double chin.

No, indeed. I've heard tell of how she fought that double chin and won her battle, though she has not reached the age when those things worry as yet, it is well to know and be prepared.

Well, this is what she did. When the first sign of a double chin made its approach by showing that little nick or at the side of the chin, she did not say, "No—never a double chin. I will not have it."

In those days women wore low collars, but not Sarah. Her collars were built up just as high as her neck could be stretched. It was called one of her fads, but it was really the best possible way of fighting the double chin she so feared.

No doubt she will, though she is a great grandmother, for our Sarah always done as she says she will, and long ago, before you or I were born, she decided that she would not grow old—that is, not ugly old, any way—and when you see her on the stage you feel that she has succeeded.

There were lots of things she never would do. She would never grow bent, as most women of her age are. She would not grow very fat, nor would she have a double chin.

No, indeed. I've heard tell of how she fought that double chin and won her battle, though she has not reached the age when those things worry as yet, it is well to know and be prepared.

Well, this is what she did. When the first sign of a double chin made its approach by showing that little nick or at the side of the chin, she did not say, "No—never a double chin. I will not have it."

In those days women wore low collars, but not Sarah. Her collars were built up just as high as her neck could be stretched. It was called one of her fads, but it was really the best possible way of fighting the double chin she so feared.

No doubt she will, though she is a great grandmother, for our Sarah always done as she says she will, and long ago, before you or I were born, she decided that she would not grow old—that is, not ugly old, any way—and when you see her on the stage you feel that she has succeeded.

There were lots of things she never would do. She would never grow bent, as most women of her age are. She would not grow very fat, nor would she have a double chin.

No, indeed. I've heard tell of how she fought that double chin and won her battle, though she has not reached the age when those things worry as yet, it is well to know and be prepared.

Well, this is what she did. When the first sign of a double chin made its approach by showing that little nick or at the side of the chin, she did not say, "No—never a double chin. I will not have it."

In those days women wore low collars, but not Sarah. Her collars were built up just as high as her neck could be stretched. It was called one of her fads, but it was really the best possible way of fighting the double chin she so feared.

No doubt she will, though she is a great grandmother, for our Sarah always done as she says she will, and long ago, before you or I were born, she decided that she would not grow old—that is, not ugly old, any way—and when you see her on the stage you feel that she has succeeded.

There were lots of things she never would do. She would never grow bent, as most women of her age are. She would not grow very fat, nor would she have a double chin.

No, indeed. I've heard tell of how she fought that double chin and won her battle, though she has not reached the age when those things worry as yet, it is well to know and be prepared.

Well, this is what she did. When the first sign of a double chin made its approach by showing that little nick or at the side of the chin, she did not say, "No—never a double chin. I will not have it."

In those days women wore low collars, but not Sarah. Her collars were built up just as high as her neck could be stretched. It was called one of her fads, but it was really the best possible way of fighting the double chin she so feared.

No doubt she will, though she is a great grandmother, for our Sarah always done as she says she will, and long ago, before you or I were born, she decided that she would not grow old—that is, not ugly old, any way—and when you see her on the stage you feel that she has succeeded.

There were lots of things she never would do. She would never grow bent, as most women of her age are. She would not grow very fat, nor would she have a double chin.

No, indeed. I've heard tell of how she fought that double chin and won her battle, though she has not reached the age when those things worry as yet, it is well to know and be prepared.

Well, this is what she did. When the first sign of a double chin made its approach by showing that little nick or at the side of the chin, she did not say, "No—never a double chin. I will not have it."

In those days women wore low collars, but not Sarah. Her collars were built up just as high as her neck could be stretched. It was called one of her fads, but it was really the best possible way of fighting the double chin she so feared.

No doubt she will, though she is a great grandmother, for our Sarah always done as she says she will, and long ago, before you or I were born, she decided that she would not grow old—that is, not ugly old, any way—and when you see her on the stage you feel that she has succeeded.

A Wealth of Rare Gifts of Solid Gold Jewelry

Never in the history of El Paso has any store offered to gift buyers such comprehensive selection in beautiful and distinctive gold jewelry productions. We doubt if any store in the larger cities can offer more extensive choosing. The extreme care and discrimination we have exercised in making our selections is apparent in the unusual character of our showing.

Particularly worthy of mention are the new bar or Kersage pins, the new flexible bracelets, scarf pins for gentlemen's refined day wear, the new Lorgnons, the new circle pins, the new pendant earrings, the new designs in finger rings of hand wrought gold, set with various stone combinations, and the new mesh bags, hand wrought vanities and card cases.

If you desire to give gifts that will worthily represent you, we know you will find here hundreds of acceptable suggestions that will immediately appeal to you.

Write for our booklet of Christmas Suggestions.

P. O. Box 94 El Paso, Texas
Herald Building--Pioneer Plaza at San Francisco Street

Mile. Gaby Deslys ON HOW TO KEEP YOUNG AND PRETTY THE BATTLE OF THE DOUBLE CHIN

I READ in the paper the other day that Sarah Bernhardt was going to be married.

No doubt she will, though she is a great grandmother, for our Sarah always done as she says she will, and long ago, before you or I were born, she decided that she would not grow old—that is, not ugly old, any way—and when you see her on the stage you feel that she has succeeded.

There were lots of things she never would do. She would never grow bent, as most women of her age are. She would not grow very fat, nor would she have a double chin.

No, indeed. I've heard tell of how she fought that double chin and won her battle, though she has not reached the age when those things worry as yet, it is well to know and be prepared.

Well, this is what she did. When the first sign of a double chin made its approach by showing that little nick or at the side of the chin, she did not say, "No—never a double chin. I will not have it."

In those days women wore low collars, but not Sarah. Her collars were built up just as high as her neck could be stretched. It was called one of her fads, but it was really the best possible way of fighting the double chin she so feared.

No doubt she will, though she is a great grandmother, for our Sarah always done as she says she will, and long ago, before you or I were born, she decided that she would not grow old—that is, not ugly old, any way—and when you see her on the stage you feel that she has succeeded.

There were lots of things she never would do. She would never grow bent, as most women of her age are. She would not grow very fat, nor would she have a double chin.

No, indeed. I've heard tell of how she fought that double chin and won her battle, though she has not reached the age when those things worry as yet, it is well to know and be prepared.

Well, this is what she did. When the first sign of a double chin made its approach by showing that little nick or at the side of the chin, she did not say, "No—never a double chin. I will not have it."

In those days women wore low collars, but not Sarah. Her collars were built up just as high as her neck could be stretched. It was called one of her fads, but it was really the best possible way of fighting the double chin she so feared.

No doubt she will, though she is a great grandmother, for our Sarah always done as she says she will, and long ago, before you or I were born, she decided that she would not grow old—that is, not ugly old, any way—and when you see her on the stage you feel that she has succeeded.

There were lots of things she never would do. She would never grow bent, as most women of her age are. She would not grow very fat, nor would she have a double chin.

No, indeed. I've heard tell of how she fought that double chin and won her battle, though she has not reached the age when those things worry as yet, it is well to know and be prepared.

Well, this is what she did. When the first sign of a double chin made its approach by showing that little nick or at the side of the chin, she did not say, "No—never a double chin. I will not have it."

In those days women wore low collars, but not Sarah. Her collars were built up just as high as her neck could be stretched. It was called one of her fads, but it was really the best possible way of fighting the double chin she so feared.

No doubt she will, though she is a great grandmother, for our Sarah always done as she says she will, and long ago, before you or I were born, she decided that she would not grow old—that is, not ugly old, any way—and when you see her on the stage you feel that she has succeeded.

There were lots of things she never would do. She would never grow bent, as most women of her age are. She would not grow very fat, nor would she have a double chin.

No, indeed. I've heard tell of how she fought that double chin and won her battle, though she has not reached the age when those things worry as yet, it is well to know and be prepared.

Well, this is what she did. When the first sign of a double chin made its approach by showing that little nick or at the side of the chin, she did not say, "No—never a double chin. I will not have it."

In those days women wore low collars, but not Sarah. Her collars were built up just as high as her neck could be stretched. It was called one of her fads, but it was really the best possible way of fighting the double chin she so feared.

No doubt she will, though she is a great grandmother, for our Sarah always done as she says she will, and long ago, before you or I were born, she decided that she would not grow old—that is, not ugly old, any way—and when you see her on the stage you feel that she has succeeded.

There were lots of things she never would do. She would never grow bent, as most women of her age are. She would not grow very fat, nor would she have a double chin.

The Manicure Lady Discusses Chinese War

"GEE, it's awful the way all these Chinese is killing each other," said the Manicure Lady, as she threw The Herald paper aside and expressed her most doubtful mind file. "I don't see why folks can't live in peace and hominy and stop being butchers. George, what is Manchus?"

"Some kind of foreigners, I guess," replied the Herald Barber. "They seem to have something against the Chinese, that's all I know about it. I was reading something about the Chinese in the columns to the beauty hints. It was said that they was warlike and never happy unless they was in a camp, like a wife."

"I'm awful interested in history," George, said the Manicure Lady. "When I was a little girl I used to read about that barbar fellow who helped Rome to fall down, and I sure did admire him, even if his picture showed that he had whiskers. His name was something like Titus, that's all I remember about him."

"But I think it is awful interesting, George, to read all these things that goes to make the history of the world. I was always awful interested in Julius Napoleon and Mark Caesar and Stonewall Cleon. I think it is grand to be able to live and die and leave a name behind you on them sands of time, and that's why I wish a lot of times that I could have been a man."

"Wilfrid was saying the other night that he would have been a great man if he had lived in the times of the Caesars, but I ain't so sure. I asked him why he didn't beat it over to China and do a little hero stuff over there if he was so anxious to be a great man, and all the poor boy could reply was that he didn't have enough money to take him to Yachta and return. I gave him a dollar after he made that spiel, and, honest to goodness, George, that is the last dollar that I am going to give him."

"You got no more right to be sore at the Chinese than I have," said the Manicure Lady. "It may be true that they don't get shaved at your chair, but it is just as true as they let their finger nails grow forever and ever. I don't think they're the kind of citizens that brings much revenue into our coffins, as they old statesmen used to say. Thank goodness, here comes John W. att. Every time he comes in he is good for a manicure, because his nails gets worn off from handling so many greenbacks and silver dollars. Let's forget about the Chinese, George, and be friends again."

A FACT ABOUT THE "BLUES"

What is known as the "Blues" is seldom occasioned by actual existing external conditions, but in the great majority of cases by a disordered LIVER.

THIS IS A FACT which may be demonstrated by trying a course of

Tutt's Pills

They control and regulate the LIVER. They bring hope and buoyancy to the mind. They bring health and elasticity to the body.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.